For most real categories the market shares matter and the category is too small to use them market shares barely move the answer: 13 categories 41 categories:
shares matter, and
there are enough
declarations to use them 80 declarations
93 categories:
shares matter, and
the category is too small to use them
declarations in the category coefficient of variation of the declarations