

A normal fit moves the building's median total by +7 percent against the other methods

