

A kernel estimate above the cutoff and a lognormal below beats either method alone, anywhere from 20 to 200 declarations

* needs market shares, which are not published: the blue curve and the two starred lines are a ceiling, not choices