Each synthetic dataset is drawn from a known mixture of one to five modes shaded: each mode, scaled by its share of the values; black: the mixture parent; ticks: the values drawn

